University Offers for The Cotswold School students in 2023

The Cotswold School sent off a fantastic 128 university applications by the 25 January UCAS deadline – mostly from current Year 13s and some from those who left the school in the past two years.

Mr White, Head of Sixth Form and Deputy Head at The Cotswold School, said "we're pleased to see the university offers that are coming in for all our students – it is a real boost for them as they approach the final few months before their summer exams. Likewise, it's a pleasure to support those applying for Art Foundation courses, Apprenticeships or planning their gap years."

Well done to all of those that applied and undertook rigorous interviews for Oxford and Cambridge Universities. This year, four students from The Cotswold School have received offers to study their chosen subjects. Congratulations to Tori, who received an offer to study at Oxford and to Annabel, Ethan and Ella, who have offers from Cambridge.

Tori was the first to receive her offer to study Politics, Philosophy and Economics at Oriel College, Oxford

"I'm very excited to have been offered a place at Oriel College to read PPE and I'm super grateful for all the support that I've had from my teachers, in particular Mr White, around my application.

Frustratingly the interviews were all online this year, but you can still imagine my surprise when my Economics interview turned out to be a 20 min question about croaking toads in a dark forest..."

Annabel is holding an offer to study Modern and Medieval Languages at St Catharine's College, Cambridge

"Whether it be providing information on Oxbridge, advice for my personal statement or organising practice interviews, the support from The Cotswold School has truly been second to none when applying to university. The ability to take part in practice interviews organised by the school not only built my confidence but also broadened my knowledge of particular subjects. I am really excited for what the future holds and feel confident going into it, especially with the skills the school has equipped me with".

Ethan has chosen to read English at Gonville & Caius College, Cambridge

"Getting an offer from the college I fell in love with, and for the course I've dreamed about for years, is very surreal. The support for my application process - particularly the upheaval that came with an online entrance exam - has been wonderful. I must admit without the reassurance of practise interviews, I wouldn't have felt so confident to bludgeon the interviewer with my more niche interests."

Ella is looking forward to studying Medicine at Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge

"My ambition is to become a doctor and being able to study at one of the leading medical schools is an amazing opportunity. Thanks to support provided by my teachers and former pupils, I was able to navigate the application process and am excited to be offered a place to read Medicine at Sidney Sussex College."

The Cotswold School is an Ofsted 'outstanding' comprehensive school, consistently supporting students to make academic progress and attain results significantly above the national average. According to The Sunday Times Parent Power survey, 2023, named The Cotswold School as the Southwest Comprehensive School of the Year. The vast majority of children who join us in Year 7 pursue their studies with us right through to Sixth Form.
